POSITIVELY

Copy for "changes" in advertisements MUST be sent in before 2 o'clock on the previous day.

If you have an item of news, please call up The Ledger, Telephone 33, and let us have it.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Ort have moved from West Third to a residence in January street.

Prayer-meeting at the Central Presbyterian Church tonight will be conducted by Rev. Dr. John Barbour of the First Presbyterian Church.

Neither aged nor youth is exempt from eye troubles and defective vision. If there is any suspicion of trouble with your eyes we'll examine them free and furnish the right glasses at the right price.

MURPHY, the Jeweler and Optician.

Yesterday's Commercial Tribune says: "Enraged because a boy misdirected him to a drug-store, Montjoy Walker, aged 37, Maysville, Ky., choked the lad almost into insensibility. The boy, Charles Doenning, aged 14, Spring Grove and Clifton avenues, appeared against Walker in the Police Court yesterday, and on his testimony and that of Patrolman Jameson Walker was fined $10 and costs."

KINSLER—FREY.

At the Cathedral at Covington at 6 o'clock this morning occurred the marriage of Mr. Will Kinsler and Miss Carrie Frey, both popular young people of this city.

The news of their marriage will be a delightful surprise to their many friends.

Both were on a visit to relatives in Cincinnati and Covington, leaving Maysville a few days ago, ostensibly to spend their vacations in that section.

Mr. and Mrs. Kinsler, on their return home, will be showered with congratulations and good wishes.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Pursuant to adjournment, Council met last night for the purpose of receiving the report of the Internal Improvement Committee in regard to the disposition of the bids received for the construction of the East End sewer.

On motion of Councilman Ficklin all bids were rejected and the matter of constructing the sewer was placed in the hands of the Internal Improvement Committee, with the Mayor, City Attorney and Engineer added.

The work will be proceeded with at once.

The Mayor and Ways and Means Committee were authorized to execute a note for $1,450 for the purpose of paying off the interest on the outstanding indebtedness of the city, which amounts to $56,000.

A permit was granted the Hauck Brewing Company to add a second story to their stable in Wall street, between Second and Third.

Adjourned.

GAINED HIS POINT

Nelson Marshall Given Permission to Pass Through Premises

Yesterday in the County Court the Jury in the case of Nelson Marshall v. Martin Clooney returned the following verdict—

We, the Jury, find from the evidence in this case that it is necessary a private passway be given Nelson Marshall through the premises of Martin Clooney, and fix the value of the land taken at $30, value of gates at $30 and the damages to the remainder of the farm at $100, being a total of $160.

The verdict was signed by W. R. Warder as Foreman.

THAT'S THE LEDGER.

The Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage says—"A newspaper whose columns overflow with the advertisements of business men has more influence in attracting attention to and building up a city or town than any other agency that can be employed. People go where there is business. Capital and labor will locate where there is enterprising community. No power on earth is so strong to build up a town as newspapers well patronized, and this power should be appreciated."

The following ladies and gentlemen from Ripley paid this city a short visit last night. They came up on a gasoline launch and after a promenade of the city left for home at 10:30. Misses Lucile Reinart, Nonna Reinart, Weinstein, Fichter, Cobb; Messrs. Frank Treap, Charles Wells, Arthur Jones, H. W. Warren, Frank Friebs.

The big harness and saddle factory and buggy emporium of Klipp & Brown is now one of the "institutions" of Maysville. The new extension, just being finished, gives them a depth of 152 feet, the first floor of which is given to a rare display of harness, etc., and the workshops, while the second floor contains vehicles of nearly every conceivable style. Their place is worth a look.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE

Handsome Home and Furnishings of Basil D. Owens Destroyed

The fine country home of Mr. Basil D. Owens on the Clark's Run pike, a few miles from Washington, was destroyed by fire about 8:30 last night.

A lamp which had been left burning during the absence of the members of the family exploded, starting the flames.

The house was one of the most tastefully furnished in the county, most of the interior decorations being handpainted, and on all these, which were totally destroyed, the loss will reach between $5,000 and $7,000.

The loss on the house is about $3,000, and outbuildings to the value of $500 were also burned.

There was an insurance of $1,000 on the dwelling and $500 on the furniture in the Hartford, Pearce & Dye's Agency.

This is Mr. Owens's second loss by fire, and his misfortune is sincerely regretted by his friends.

River News

Gage 5.2 and falling.

The Tacoma was the Pomeroy packet up last night.

The Henry M. Stanley will be down today from Pomeroy.

The Pittsburgh coal combine has leased space on the river front at Paducah to enter the coal business in the city and on the river.

One by one the big packets are being forced out of service by low water. No boats are navigating above Pomeroy, while steamers are having trouble reaching that port.

The Frank Gilmore, just from the Marine Ways at Pt. Pleasant, is coming with a tow of 8 flats and barges and 4 coalboats to Pittsburgh. She will go up as far as possible, and lay waiting for a rise in the river so that she can get into the Pittsburgh harbor.

The wreck of the Fred Wilson at Louisville has been valued at $500, which sum is, under the admiralty laws, the limit of the liability of her owners. Several suits are likely to be entered against her before the first Monday in November, and the $500 will be divided among the claimants.

The low water of the last week in the Ohio river opened the beachcombers' season. A beachcomber is one who sifts and searches the sandbars along the river during the low water season for valuables. These valuables consist mostly of lumps of coal which have been sunk during the winter from the vast coal fleets, which are being towed down the river from the fuel districts to the markets on the lower river.

Six thousand, three hundred and eighty-three Kentuckians registered at the Kentucky Building at the World's Fair during the month of July.

NOT JUST NOW!

Maysville's Public Building Will Cost Some Too Much

Bids were opened in the Treasury Department at Washington Monday for the construction of the new Public Building in this city, for which $50,000 was appropriated in the last Congress.

All the bids exceeded the available balance, hence the plans will either be modified or the bids rejected, Congress being asked to appropriate an additional sum.

The lowest bidder was Clark & Howard of Lexington, at $45,837.

George Moore & Son of Nashville, Tenn., was the next lowest bidder, at $45,873.

"There Isn't One Really Good Printer in Five Hundred."

Printers' Ink—the leading journal on publicity of all kinds—has the following to say: "There are thousands of printers in this country, good, indifferent, and a lot of bad ones. There isn't one really good printer in five hundred. Intelligent advertisers are willing to pay for good printing, no matter where it comes from."

Printers' Ink knows what it is talking about. Poor printing is a bad investment—it's worse than a blank. A business man's stationery or booklet is like a traveling man—if it's neat, well-dressed and to the point, the first impression is good and your chances of doing business on the strength of it are good.

We realize this. We keep abreast of the times. We know what good printing is and produce it. We are pretty careful not to let a bum job get onto our presses. No press in the country can better our printing and we want you to know it.

WILL The Bulletin please tell its benighted readers when Labor Day became a "National Holiday?"

THE Lexington Gazette, for years an influential Democratic newspaper, threatens to bolt the Parker ticket. In a three-column editorial the Editor, E. S. KINKAID, a relative of United States Senator BLACKBURN, declares the Parker telegram a base and deliberate fraud. But, then, with the Machine in charge of the counting apparatus, the bolting of a few Democratic papers, more or less, won't cut much ice in Kentucky.

FRANCIS E. TALCOTT, son of JAMES TALCOTT, Vice-President of the American Hosiery Company of New Haven, Conn., who will leave the young man $15,000,000, secretly married ANNIE BLIERLY, a mill hand, on June 30th last. Young TALCOTT was sent to New Haven to learn the hosiery business in one of the Company's mills. He learned also to love Miss BLIERLY, who is pretty and refined, and, fearing parental objection, he wedded her without permission.

Recently the father heard of the wedding and at once ordered the son back to New York to go to work in the Company's office, where he "could earn enough to support a wife." The elder TALCOTT takes the marriage philosophically, and is known to have extended full forgiveness.

It's a leadpipe cinch that the Government Building will not be erected on the "manufactured" corner lot—not just yet, anyhow!

ROOSEVELT is a winner! Chairman CORTELL of the Republican National Committee has given out a statement which claims twenty-nine states certainly for ROOSEVELT and thirteen certainly for PARKER, leaving three only in the doubtful column:

Conceding the entire electoral vote of the three doubtful states to PARKER he would still be far away from victory. Nothing is, in fact, certain for Judge PARKER but the Solid South, which the bureaucrats are always able to count in under any circumstances.

It is interesting to know, in connection with the Presidency this year, that while President ROOSEVELT needs but 238 electoral votes to be elected, Judge PARKER must have at the very least 239. The reason for this is that should the candidates, by any possibility, divide the electoral vote evenly, the election would devolve on the House of Representatives, which is largely Republican.

The total electoral vote this year is 476. Each candidate receiving 238 votes, neither would have a majority.

Protect the State's Honor.

Louisville Herald.

The more the Hon. Henry Watterson discusses the case of Caleb Powers the more the political animus of this new attack upon the helpless young man is obvious. Mr. Watterson has now ceased to defend the article by Lewis McQuown as being "impartial." The exposure of the fact that Mr. McQuown is Chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, that he was William Goebel's personal attorney, and a political lawyer adviser of the Democratic machine, took the wind out of the pretense that he was "impartial." Everybody in Kentucky knows that the article is as surely a part of the political persecution of Powers as the mock trials and the packing of Juries in his cases were political.

What Mr. Watterson said of the Goebel Election Law and the Goebel machine in 1899 he can say now of these trials: "Nothing is left to chance." When the Juries were packed with political partisans hostile to Powers it was known absolutely that the Court of Appeals was prohibited from investigating the outrage

—however unlawfully or unfairly it might be done. With this bulwark of absolutism behind the political persecution, solid Goebelite Juries were drawn to pass on Caleb Powers's case. Three times it was done. It could not have been chance—"nothing was left to chance;"—it could not have occurred under an impartial and judicial application of the supreme spirit of our laws, which Thomas Jefferson declared to be "the right of trial by Juries impartially selected."

The law of Kentucky makes the trial Judge an absolute despot in the selection of a Jury and deprives the accused of the right of appeal for any despotism wrong he may suffer in consequence. All the more imperative, therefore, that the Judge should be a man withdrawn from prejudice and with the serene judicial instinct to hold the scales of justice fairly balanced. When Powers, within his rights under the law, swore one Judge off the bench for partisan virulence, that Judge refused to vacate until the Court of Appeals of his own party tendencies compelled him to do so. Then the Governor, who had made the conviction of Powers part of his political campaign argument, appointed, as a proper special Judge to sit in the case, a partisan lawyer who was immediately selected to serve on the Democratic Campaign Committee. He sat. The solid Goebel Jury was again selected—"nothing was left to chance;"—and again the farce of trying a preconvicted man was enacted.

This reads like a chapter from South American politics—it all happened in Kentucky in the Twentieth Century. The selection of Juries to hound this young man to death was as deliberately done as the animus of the prosecution was a deliberate continuation in Court of the political methods of the Goebel political campaign that preceded. As the Goebel machine could not defeat Taylor fairly before the people, it defeated him by packed committees and a packed Jury in the General Assembly. The method succeeded there. The question is, can it succeed in the purpose to assassinate Caleb Powers "under the forms of law?"

In the Courier-Journal of Saturday Mr. Watterson makes these remarkable declarations:

Our esteemed contemporary, The Louisville Herald, which has worked itself into the belief that William Goebel slew himself and then laid the crime at the doors of Taylor, Powers and Howard, asks us, with respect to Taylor, "Why not assure him of a trial by an impartial Jury?" Here, as elsewhere, The Herald is the victim of hallucination; because the only Jury it would consider "impartial" would be a Jury composed only of Republicans.

Now, as the Republicans have sworn on ten thousand Bibles, to say nothing of a dozen Republican platforms, that Taylor is innocent—just as they swore that Yontsey was innocent until Yontsey confessed his guilt—Taylor before such a Jury would stand acquitted before he went to trial. Thirty-six citizens—two of them Republicans—have declared upon their oaths as good and true men that Powers is guilty.

Is The Herald prepared, personally and seriatim, to charge that each of these thirty-six citizens is a perjurer and a villain, fore sworn of God and abhorred of man—who would hang a fellow-citizen and a human being because of a difference of political opinion?

Some of these observations are, of course, mere extravagances of speech, fustian intended to sound well, but having no real meaning. As, for instance, the last question—whether we would charge each of the Jurors seriatim with perjury and being a villain. We ask Mr. Watterson a question in return. Is he prepared to charge personally and seriatim that each Republican citizen of Franklin, Scott, Woodford and Bourbon counties qualified for Jury service is, in his own picturesque language, "a perjurer and a villain, fore sworn of God and man," who would become an accessory after the fact to the murder of Goebel by acquitting his actual murderer, in violation of the Jury oath, if he was proved to be guilty? This is mere flub-dub, to be sure, but it is Mr. Watterson's flub-dub.

The main statement in the declarations is in its substance, however, unfortunately true. That is that the masses of Republicans, who know nothing of the facts except as they have been published and retailed outside the Courts, do believe as an article of political faith that Taylor and Powers are innocent. And in exactly the same measure—Republicans and Democrats being alike in their virtues and faults—Democrats "have sworn on ten thousand Bibles" as an article of political faith that Taylor and Powers are guilty. Mr. Watterson knows this, and yet argues with the emotional illogic of a woman that it is proper to send these accused men helplessly before solid Juries of Democrats, "sworn on ten thousand Bibles," convinced of their guilt, to be ordered to the shambles to satisfy the party demand for blood.

It is a proposition that affronts intelligence and shocks the moral sense of every thoughtful man. It shocks the moral sense in that such a procedure involves the prostitution of the last bulwark of common protection—the Courts of the state—to the degradation that befell the English Courts under Jeffreys.

Far better for the honor of the state would it be if the maddened partisans of Goebel had seized Powers and lynched him. In that case the madness of a locality might have served as defense against an indictment of the judicial system and the sense of fairness of a whole state. Let us have no lynchings under "the forms of law." In God's name, let the hands of that political machine which Mr. Watterson himself personally denounced a year ago as being purchasable for the Governorship with money—and "very dirty money at that," as he phrased it—let that dirty clutch be released from the throat of our Courts and let prevail the true spirit of the laws, which should be administered in every Court with simple and honest purpose only that justice may be done without swerving to Democrat and Republican, to rich and poor, high and low alike. When that bulwark fails the people of Kentucky they will have lost one jewel worth having—whatever the politics of the majority may remain.

If Caleb Powers is guilty the more important it is that he should have a fair and impartial trial.

If a guilty man cannot get a fair trial, what guarantee is there that innocent men can get fair trials? In this city of Louisville within a month a responsible head of the Police Department has declared that one man was protected against suspicions because he "was a married man and a Mason." The Mayor has declared that a Detective charged with an offense against the law was not to be removed because "the offense was rather common." What are the Courts and laws for? Next week another man may be prosecuted because he is a married man or a Mason, or because he is a Republican or a Democrat.

If Caleb Powers is convicted of complicity in the murder of Goebel in a fair Court before an impartial Jury he should be hanged, and the glory of the state would be brighter for it. But if he is hanged—even though he be guilty—by the instrumentality of partisan prosecution and packed Juries the disgrace of Kentucky will be complete—its honor tarnished forever.

The Kentucky Annual Conference of the M. E. Church, South, will convene in Lexington August 31st, with Bishop A. Coke Smith presiding.

The Handsomest Calendars Ever Shown in This City

The business man who spends his money in Maysville, simply puts that money into the hands of people who will in turn spend it with him again.

Did you ever think of that?
The business man who spends his money for printing in Louisville, or Cincinnati, or Chicago, or New York, puts that money into the hands of people who never did, nor ever will, spend a dollar in his store.

Did you ever think of that?
Now, in order that a good deal of this money may be kept at home, and spent by home workmen and home employers with home merchants, The Ledger Printery has secured the handsomest line of Calendars ever seen in this city, with a price limit to suit every need.

Mr. Richard L. Miles, The Ledger Printery's expert Printer, will call on you in a few days, dazzle your eyes with the beauties and tickle your bank account with the prices.

At Hoeflich's Reduction Sale!

You can make no mistake, for no matter how low the price, you are getting only the best goods—don't keep the other kind—so my bargains are the kind that should interest the careful buyer. As I leave in a short time for New York to buy fall goods, all summer goods must go, so another cut is made in the prices to clean them out at once.

Have added House Furnishing Goods to the line of reduced goods, and the prices have been reduced on

AUGUST

This is the month in which to buy a farm. I have some very attractive bargains. It will save you money to come to my office and let me show you my stock before you look elsewhere. One listed with me last week belonging to Elder Bela Metcalfe, located near Northfork, Ky., should receive your immediate attention; contains 102 acres, is located about one-fourth of a mile from Horseshoe Pike, about seven miles from Maysville; has a two-story frame shingle roof dwelling of eight rooms, also veranda and porch; tobacco barn 108x40, corn-crib and all necessary outbuildings; fences in good repair; about 25 acres in grass. This property adjoins the farms of Mrs. Steers, James Brittain and Henry Keith. If you want a good farm this is one that you can buy at a reasonable price.

We do not consider it any trouble to show you our list, and shall be pleased to have you call if you are thinking of buying real estate.
